Germany's Moratorium: Annual Summer
Rush Of Tourists: A Special Rolls-Royce: A Busman's Holiday.

"Jane Eyre": "L. G.'s."
War Memoirs

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 27. Although the six months' moratorium declared by Germany on all external loans has been the sensation of the week, it was not unexpected. The Government-controlled Press had indicated fairly clearly the course that was to be followed. Dr. Schacht's story of the "fateful policy of the Allies" having robbed Germany of her means of payment was, of course, intended for home consumption. Its effect abroad has been merely to evoke the cynical comment that no such fearful presentation of the German position was made when borrowing was the subject of discussion.

The Government has lost no time in making its response. It warned Germany well in advance that drastic steps would be taken were default to occur on the Dawes and Young loans. That warning has been ignored. The result is that an Anglo-German clearing office will be set up on July 1, unless the German decision is changed, under which, presumably, sterling credits due to German exporters to this country will be used to satisfy Germany's creditors here.

Meanwhile, it is as well to take seriously Mr. Chamberlain's warning that anyone who purchases German bonds now held by foreigners does so at his own risk. The intention, obviously, is to limit any payments that may become available to British nationals who already hold German bonds.

Unfortunate, but Inevitable

No one can doubt the justice of the action taken by the British Government. It is the unfortunate fact, however, that should the exchange clearing house become necessary, one more obstacle in the way of a recovery of international trade will have been set up. In view of the situation, which every indication suggests has been deliberately provoked by Germany, some such step was inevitable.

Dr. Schacht is a realist, and cannot be the dupe of his own words. He knows, and no one better, that internal economic policy and external payment have been definitely divorced in the German official mind.

Meanwhile what of the unfortunate holders of Germany's I.O.U.s. They lent their money relying on the promise of a great, though heavily-cried, nation. Their faith has been betrayed. While German exports here continue to show a balance over our imports to Germany, the clearing house when established may prove capable of meeting their claims. But who can say how long under the new conditions that balance will be maintained? It is true that the moratorium now announced is for six months only. But no one with a true appreciation of the facts believes that it will not be prolonged.

THE U.S. TOURIST RUSH

The departure recently from New York of five liners, including the reconditioned Leviathan, marks the peak of the annual summer rush of Americans to Europe.

More than 4,000 passengers will be distributed between the Leviathan, the Aquitania, the Paris, the Conte di Savoia, and the Caldonia.

In marked contrast to the past few years, when ships sailed half empty, all the shipping lines report that they are doing excellent business, many ships being completely booked both ways.

London hoteliers and shopkeepers should be gratified to know that most of these visitors intend to spend a large proportion of their European holiday in this country, unsettled conditions having scared a number of them away from the Continent.

LORD LONSDALE'S FAMOUS CAR

Lord Lonsdale made light of what might have been an unpleasant affair when his car was ditched on the way to the course. His friends, relieved at his escape from injury, will be hoping that his famous yellow car was also unharmed.

It is a "twenty" Rolls-Royce, with a body specially designed for its owner—rather high, and with lots of headroom at the back, but unusual in looks because behind the doors there are, in place of windows, an arrangement of slats rather suggestive of Venetian blinds.

An earlier vehicle of Lord Lonsdale's, a C-spring brougham of the pre-motor era, is now in the London Museum.

MAX BEERBOHM'S FIRST ARTICLE

At a lunch party I attended Sir Nigel Playfair confessed to me that he was going to take a "busman's holiday by seeing a play—for the first time for about five years."

Lord Alfred Douglas, who was up at Oxford with Sir Nigel, was also present. He recalled that, as editor of "The Spirit Lamp"—a monthly literary magazine he produced in his last year at Oxford—he accepted the first article Mr. Max Beerbohm ever wrote.

The article, which was on modern fashion infuriated the Philistines of the day, but was in Mr. Beerbohm's best satiric style. It was signed "H. M. Beerbohm," as the "incomparable Max" had not then the self-assurance to use the single Christian name.

The six copies of "The Spirit Lamp," to which Wilde, Lionel Johnson, and the other "lions" of the day contributed, are now, I believe, worth more than £20.

'BARBAROUS' ENGLISH BOWLING

While the leg theory controversy seems now defunct, I see in a book by Mr. Cecil Kent, published to-day, "The Story of the Test in England, 1880-1934," that a Frenchman discussed it in 1884.

M. Anatole Gonjon wrote about the Oval Test Match of that year in the "St. James's Gazette":

"Never in my life have I seen a spectacle so extraordinary. I do not comprehend how it is amusing for the players and especially for the Australian delegates, who are in great peril at each instant. More than once the ball strikes the legs of a delegate, but, thanks to the protecting greaves (pads), fails to actually break them."

I admire the strategy of the Australians, which lends them a defence so excellent, but at the same time I regard with horror at the barbarity of the English.

Mr. Kent's book, I should add, is informative as well as amusing.

EAGER TO BE JANE

Apparently the public appreciation of Charlotte Brontë, or at least of "Jane Eyre," her major work, is as keen as ever, for an

MINERS AND COUNCIL

New Demand For Representation

Singapore, July 7. Considering the amount of capital involved and the personnel of staffs engaged, the tin mining industry in the F.M.S. gets a very poor hearing in official circles, declared Mr. E. F. Harris, chairman of the Dredging Association of Southern Malaya, at the annual meeting held in Kuala Lumpur recently.

He urged that the association should press strongly for representation of the industry in the Federal Council.

Mr. Harris, in moving the adoption of the report and accounts, said: "On December 31 last the credit balance shown in the accounts was $613.63. On May 31, that is, at the end of last month the corresponding figure was $9,125.61. The credit balance on May 31, 1933, was $1,601.10, and I am sure you will agree that our financial position shows satisfactory progress."

Affiliation To Chamber Of Mines

So far as ordinary individual members are concerned we have reached very nearly 100 per cent. numerically, so that we cannot expect to go on at our present rate in this direction. I hope, however, that we shall be able to say before the year is out that we have enrolled the very few still to come in.

You will notice in the report that your committee has actively pursued the matter of affiliation with the F.M.S. Chamber of Mines. I am glad to be able to inform you that this matter has now been finalized and that two of our Ordinary members, Messrs. C. J. Rowe and E. A. Coates, nominated at our extraordinary general meeting on the 10th of last month, have since been elected by the Chamber to seats on the Council of the Chamber.

I think this is a definite step forward and that we have now accomplished one of our larger aims in securing this representation. It is a step which should be beneficial both to ourselves and the Chamber and should tend towards making the F.M.S. Chamber of Mines a more representative, and therefore a stronger body, able to obtain and voice the general opinion on mining matters in F.M.S.

Technical discussions have been vigorously continued. Two papers have been presented since the close of the report, by (1) Mr. E. G. Boyd and (2) by Messrs. E. J. Valentine and A. H. Flowerdew. Both these papers have given us valuable data and the thanks of the Association are due to the authors for the trouble and care spent on the preparation of the papers. Other papers are in hand and will be announced as and when they can be presented.

American film company, which announced fully a year ago its intention of making a film of the novel, has been deluged with letters from all parts of the world ever since. During the 12 months between 3000 and 4000 letters have been received with requests for the privilege of playing in the picture, and nearly 200 applicants for the title role alone have been interviewed. Grim young women with tempestuous natures in England, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and the United States have been eager to play the immortal Jane. Virginia Bruce has now been chosen for the part, and she will be supported by John Clive of "Journey's End" fame.

L. G. ON THE FILMS

Advances have been made to Mr. Lloyd George with a view to the filming of his war memoirs. The approach has come from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company, of California, whose vice-presidents, Mr. David O. Selznick, I hear, has talked the matter over with L. G. at Churt. The thing is still very much in the embryo stage, but the proposal is to introduce no fiction into the film. Indeed all the scenes and casting would be approved by Mr. Lloyd George himself.

ROUND THE SHOPS

NICE GLOVES

Lane, Crawford's: Have just received a very nice shipment of gloves in fabrics, and silks. The silk ones are very smart as they have the wide organdie cuffs and others are to be had in the big gauntlet styles edged with striped silk. The fabric gloves are very popular too, as they wash beautifully. These are in cream trimmed with brown and white trimmed with black.

SMART GOODS

Malzee's: I've noticed over and over again that most of the women that pass by Malzee's shop are always tempted to go in. Well I suppose it's because they are attracted by her "Smart Goods." Yesterday I saw some lovely little silk pique dresses. These are absolutely the latest, such adorable designs too, and in styles to suit all tastes.

RIVELLE

This little shop in the Gloucester Arcade have just received a very smart selection of morning dresses at prices that are hard to beat, and even the Chinese tailor cannot make a nice dress cheaper, so if you are looking for something really serviceable and good looking I would advise you to call on Rivelle.

"GIVE-AWAY PRICES"

Eve is selling off a number of very good quality bathing costumes at give away prices. The majority of these suits were picked from $12.50—$24.50 and are now selling at $8.50.

Then there are a few pairs of beach pyjamas in beautiful styles and materials which Eve is clearing off at $5 only.

Foundation Clothes Are Important

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 27.
Foundation garments must be chosen with the greatest care.

You can make the most, or the least, of whatever claim you have to beauty with the foundation garment you choose as a base for your "undies" and your gowns.

Much in the manner in which you select your powder-base, make very sure that the foundation you choose is one which suits and becomes you. Never have there been so many "foundations" from which to choose.

For The Fearless

For you who are normal, slender, and have no fear of adding weight or inches, the lightest, daintiest little belt, hampered neither by fastenings nor boning, and refusing to ride up, will provide a "tailored" hipline yet offer you no restriction, since it is woven from latex material.

For you who have grown too slender, particularly after illness, and have a slight sagging of the chest muscles, there is an equally light-hearted and dainty foundation without boning, and having a lace braziere "top" with an up-lift movement. It is woven from supple spun fabric, and has a low, graceful back.

Then, if you are inclined to add inches to your hips, there is a more elaborate model of silk two-way stretch material with angel-silk side panels which refuse you a spread when you happen to be sitting for long hours.

For those who are tender with foundations, and desire really slim line, there is the latex model, perforated, and made in a number of designs with lace and zipp fastenings.

Then there is a corset created from pure spun silk and latex which is feather-weight, seamless, and washes indefinitely. It stretches both ways, yet resumes its original size immediately it is taken from you.

One house is specialising in foundation garments from a mere belt of ribbon designed for the dancer, to a charming corsetette, with a patent back fastening, and the lightest of brassiere arrangements which cut away so that there is no pressure on the ribs, leaving you ample freedom, yet supporting the "high" "tummy" line and the chest.

In Doubt?

For sports, for swimsuits, and for hiking in 1934, you cannot neglect the possibilities of the foundation without suspenders, securing firmly so that there is no chance of its riding up, yet affording a happy control of the hips.

And if you make a habit of wearing a foundation garment for the rest of the year, you will be foolish to resist one for camping, hiking, or any other holiday.

Are you in any doubt about the foundation garment which will beautify your figure? Do let me choose it for you. It is a topic of loveliness just as important as your complexion, and do you neglect it, even more betraying.

COSTUME JEWELRY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 27.
Some of the costume jewelry and other trimmings for the summer seem meant to suggest the sea, tailored cotton dresses and suits have mussel or scallop shell buttons, glazed or coloured, and of pink or blue composition. There are similar dress clips and ear-rings. A pastel jersey jumper suit is buttoned with South Sea shells dyed to match it.

Brooches and clips take the form of silver seahorses and starfish, and there are anchors and harpoons of metal and composition. Printed cotton materials show brightly coloured anemones, shells, or sea-horses. Bracelets are made of gold and silver wire or beads, or solid galalite bands. Bright red, blue, or yellow scarf pins also give colour to white or natural toned suits, as do necklaces and bracelets of flat beads on coloured cords.

A square neckline may be finished with a pair of white or coloured crystals wings outlined with gold, and there are many white composition bracelets clips, and clip-on ear-rings. Small beads are woven to look like flowers, and there are bouillonnere ornaments of fruit and flowers with metal leaves to go with simple afternoon dresses.

Initials appear on massive finger rings of crystal, on the composition fastenings and frames of white linen and washable fabric bags, and on the sleeves or pockets of white dresses. Heavy linen bags and belts of rope that could have withstood the test of time have intricate fastenings. Evening handbags of ruffled net and organdie match gloves and have strands of seed or enamel flowers.

WHITE FELTS

Mayo's: It seems rather early in the season to advertise white felts, but there are quite a number of people that wear light weight felts all the year round. For these folks especially we would draw their attention that Mayo's have just received some light weight felts and would make them up in any style to suit you.

Costume Jewellery

Natural coloured linens are particularly adaptable to costume jewellery of polished wood with a precious quality.

Wide bracelets turned with rounded outside rims and studded with small brass nail heads, match, brooch and belt buckles. One senses, however, that they should never become confused with button trimmings. Flat-fronted bodices encourage the vogue.

THE KILLED FRILL

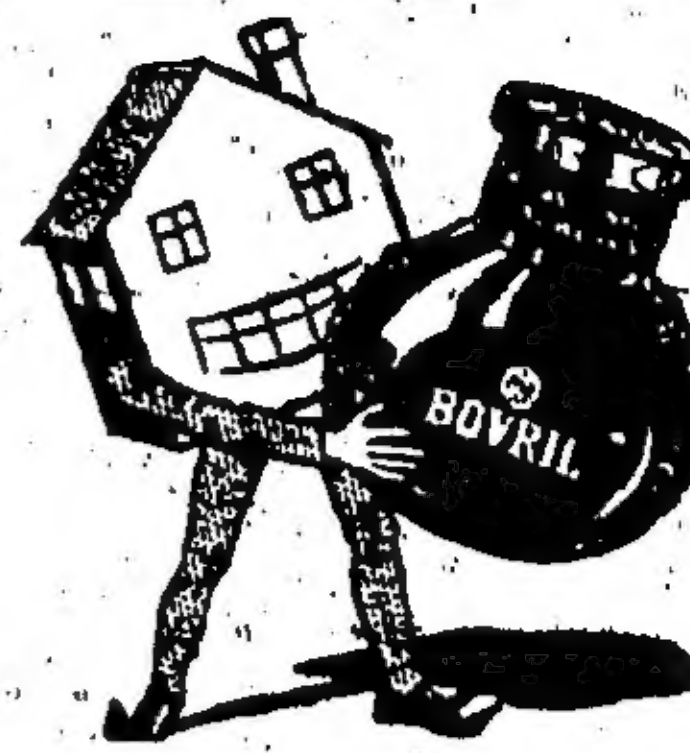

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 27.
Frills are taking the killed way, and by the autumn no doubt the killed frill trimmings, which are always flattering because of their neat flat appearance, should be a leading fashion vogue. One of the latest Molyneux ensembles made for the Begum Aga Khan shows the effective use of unusually deep killed frills—a double tier appearing on the skirt and similar pleatings adorning the cape.

Crimly trims in blue, red and white, patterned in a small Persian design, is the fabric for this distinctive cape and stock model.

NEW COLOUR
VOGUE

How It Is Started

Where do the new colours come from—the lovely tints that one sees nowadays, which captivate, and add to the charm of both the young and the elderly?

Instances the wonderfully soft blues that one sees in the sheerest of silken dress fabrics and woollen suitings, and can find also in table linens, and the accompanying tea or dinner service; in the crepe de Chine sheets and pillow cases of the luxuriously inclined; in motor-cars and their fittings; and on the kitchen walls.

Even Parisiennes have succumbed to the London vogue of turquoise blue, in spite of their affection for black, and black-and-white. There are pale golden yellows and glorious shades of red in tints and tones so far removed from their primary form as to be hardly recognisable.

This triumph of colour in fashion and the home is also a triumph for British dyers and manufacturers. Only of recent years has it become possible to reproduce really beautiful colours in all types of dress materials in this country. Foreign domination in colour no longer holds sway now that British colours just as beautiful can be produced by our own textile and other colour using industries.

Much of the success of modern colour schemes is due to a plan of standardisation. The British Colour Council, with the desire to place colour determination for the British Empire in British hands, has evolved systems of colour research which provide early information on the trend of fashion in this direction.

In this way a selection of the coming fashion colours can be made, and the sponsored coloured card and correlated chart for the coming season is achieved. These cards and charts are sent out to members representing every kind of industry, not only to all parts of Great Britain, but to all parts of the world.

Manufacturers of every kind of production in which women are interested are thus enabled to create harmonious colour schemes in silk, woollen and cotton fabrics, knitwear, holsters, shoes and gloves, bags and other accessories. The modern colour scheme extends to embroideries and fine needlework which is absorbing so much attention from the women of to-day.

Household linen, table ware and the kitchen have not been overlooked. A colour chart, suitable for household appliances has been adopted by leading firms, and this chart applies to other firms interested in interior decoration. Linking up of the industries by means of colour is one of the chief explanations of the present day colour harmony. It cannot fail to assist the eventual purchaser whether it be in choosing an ensemble for Gold Cup Day at Ascot or having the kitchen domain redecorated.

The evolution of a fashion colour is interesting. This season the vogue for a soft turquoise blue under the name of Gainsborough duck egg, or majolica, has been a victory for the colour fashion prophets.

Next autumn will see a new blue green as one of the season's colour successes. This is a soft dark blue green very like a peacock green, which is particularly effective in supple cloth, and in taffeta for evening wear. There is also a new dark almond green. There is no apparent yellow in these shades, which makes them a distinct contrast to the yellowish moss greens which were worn last autumn.

PARIS FASHIONS

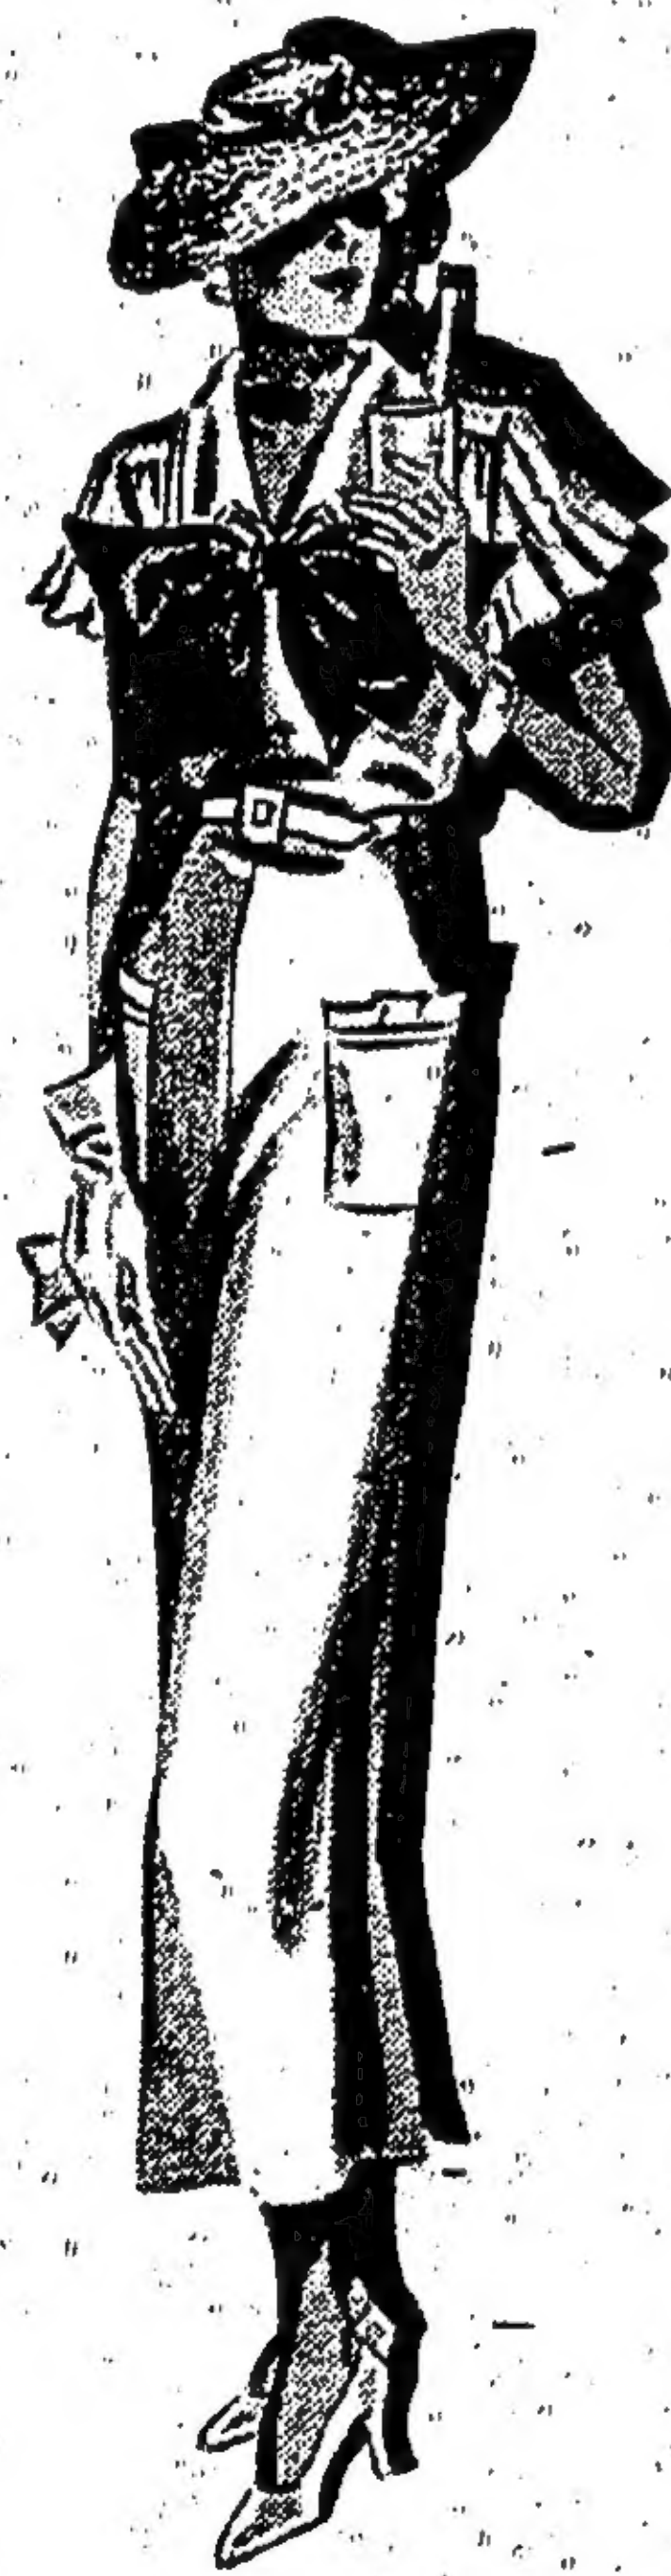

More Comfortable
Hats

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 27.

Wide brimmed, low crowned hats are challenged by draped berets. The Lanvin beret, made with sections of ribbon or dress material, is rather like a tam-o'-shanter. Other berets, less exactly so named, are draped in different ways, some are wide some are narrow, some are worn over the brow or with a veil, but all look supple and comfortable. They may be of soft straw, ribbon, taffetas, or tweed.

Figured crepe dresses with big black hats and dark wraps, or fur capes, have been numerous at Chantilly, together with organdie and taffetas dresses; and the easy fashion of black and white has been maintained. In dresses of one with coats of the other. There were several tunics; white satin over black, figured crepe over plain crepe. Blouses of blue, organdie dotted white, grey, or pale blue, were worn with woollen and silk tailor-made clothes. Flower cache combs and ribbon ties were fixed to the backs of some big hats, and there were a few flower toques. Gloves were of white pique, linen, or organdie, and with some flowered silk and muslin dresses the gloves were of those materials. When afternoon dresses have long skirts carried to a high waistline and short highwaisted jackets are worn with them, there is an impression of height where there is none.

All new skirts tend towards slim wrapover lines. They are draped on the figure and shaped to fall gracefully by different uses of scissors and needle. The wrapover skirt brings with it a side drapery again; the wrapover means slits, darts, openings for panels, or the revelation of an under-dress. Whatever the time of day, a skirt draped on the figure imparts individuality and variety.

The long cape of velvet, taffetas, organza, satin, or fur is worn in the evening. By day the long cape is worn with tailor-made clothes. In the afternoon, at the races and in the Bois, long velvet capes appear with fitted shoulders. There is much less puffing about shoulders and sleeves than there was. Only in full garden-party attire may there be those rippling trimmings on the shoulders and flounced skirts which take up so much room. A tailored simplicity is what is preferred, though hats may be complicated.

SUMMER FASHIONS NOW
AT HIGH TIDELatest Colour Symphonies: Pinhead Dots And Coin Spots

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 27.

French tennis championships have been drawing moderate crowds to the Stade Roland Garros with a half-and-half interest displayed between shorts and skirts on the courts and a great sprinkling of linen suits on the stands.

Brilliant sunshine has given this new summer style an earlier start than usual, and it is one that might be encouraged with ease for Wimbledon and Lord's.

Hemp weaves and linen of every coarse variety, whether unbleached or bleached, parade this neat tailored fashion with semi-fitted jackets and slim skirts. Flat shoulder capelets do sometimes put in an appearance on tailored dresses, but on the whole jackets look smarter, even when two-piece ensembles are preferred instead of three-piece ones, with blouses showing off to perfection in plain coloured, striped, spotted, or checked fabrics.

Blouses vary in vivid or sober contrasts with these particular types of patterned fabrics being accepted almost to the exclusion of floral prints. They seem to give the right "flourish" to understated linen suit styles whether made from surah, tie-silk, China, taffeta and linen—which may contrast in finer or coarser texture to the main note.

A plain navy blue coarse linen blouse with a short broad chemise shirt front is one example that looks excellent with a pale grey cotton tweed suit, while narrow parrot-coloured stripes through a white ground bring a new splash of gaiety to navy. Stripes also run in sober-toned greens and reds through fine Lisle thread jersey pullovers. A country trend, perhaps, but still very smart for spectator sports wear on occasions.

Reds in a medley of tones from dark to light effect white blouses from the neutral-coloured linen and Shantung suit calendar. This might also apply to navy and brown. Since there is such variety in spots from pinhead dots to those of different "coin" persuasion as well as checks in a similar range, they never pall on the optic nerve, even when hats, with brims gauged from Breton sailor "types" to "flops," are spotted to match.

One feels that this particular style will be the great stand-by should the drought break at the wrong moment—that is to say, if rain prevents us from wearing frailer clothes we have been hoarding for exclusive social functions during the season. Individually, of course, we are all longing for one of those thunderstorms that signal a whole lot of gentle rain for several days.

The red and white duster checked mat taffeta I told you about some time ago as figuring in the mid-season collections for a youthful evening gown with a ground length full hemline and ruffles round the armholes has been taken up for blouse lengths. It is used to make a dainty model with high neck split down the centre back, short sleeves, and a waist swathing closely over the skirt of a coarse open mesh white linen suit.

Open backs to blouses are in keeping with morning sports and afternoon styles. They are usually fastened by a button or tie at the nape, and help preserve flat fronts in just the same manner as short back button fastenings should you prefer the centre closed.

Split openings are intriguing, particularly for wear under jackets in hot weather. A blouse with this characteristic has an extra special feature in narrow inch-wide machine-stitched bands. One grips the opening together at the back from where it is fixed as far as the shoulders, and then left to hang free so that a knot can be tied with ends lopping over a square front décolleté. Another long band of the same proportion is machine-stitched and attached over the slightly fitted alge-front waistline to be crossed at the back and brought round again to the front, where it is knotted in an identical fashion.

This apron-topped blouse obviates button-fastenings, and is an ideal model for materials like organdie that have no slip-in-to stretch.

Although straight skirts are legion for these summer suits, divided ones are made interesting by crossing a single panel width of the material from left front to right back, or vice versa to form the trousered division, which is actually closed. The manipulation is not so easy as it sounds!

This skirt motif also appears for a heat suit of black crepe de China, with beige worn with a lacquer red, and white spotted blouse. Linen is a special theme for suits and neutral-coloured tailored dresses for wear with dark linen jackets. Sometimes these frocks are entirely plain; with the colour of the jacket mirrored in a centre-front button bodice fastening and leather belt.

Dark blue on oatmeal linen crash is one instance, while a brown linen jacket looks excellent on a yellow cotton hopsack frock. Pale blue linen, too, looks well when contrasted with a brown chemise front to go with a brown linen jacket. In following this idea I would make my hat according to my jacket, whether it be of bright green or red linen for a white or natural-toned frock. These plain coloured jackets are not only refreshing to look at, but break up the revival for white ones on black or navy. White alpaca, by the way, is the latest material for these jacket lines.

COTTON LACE

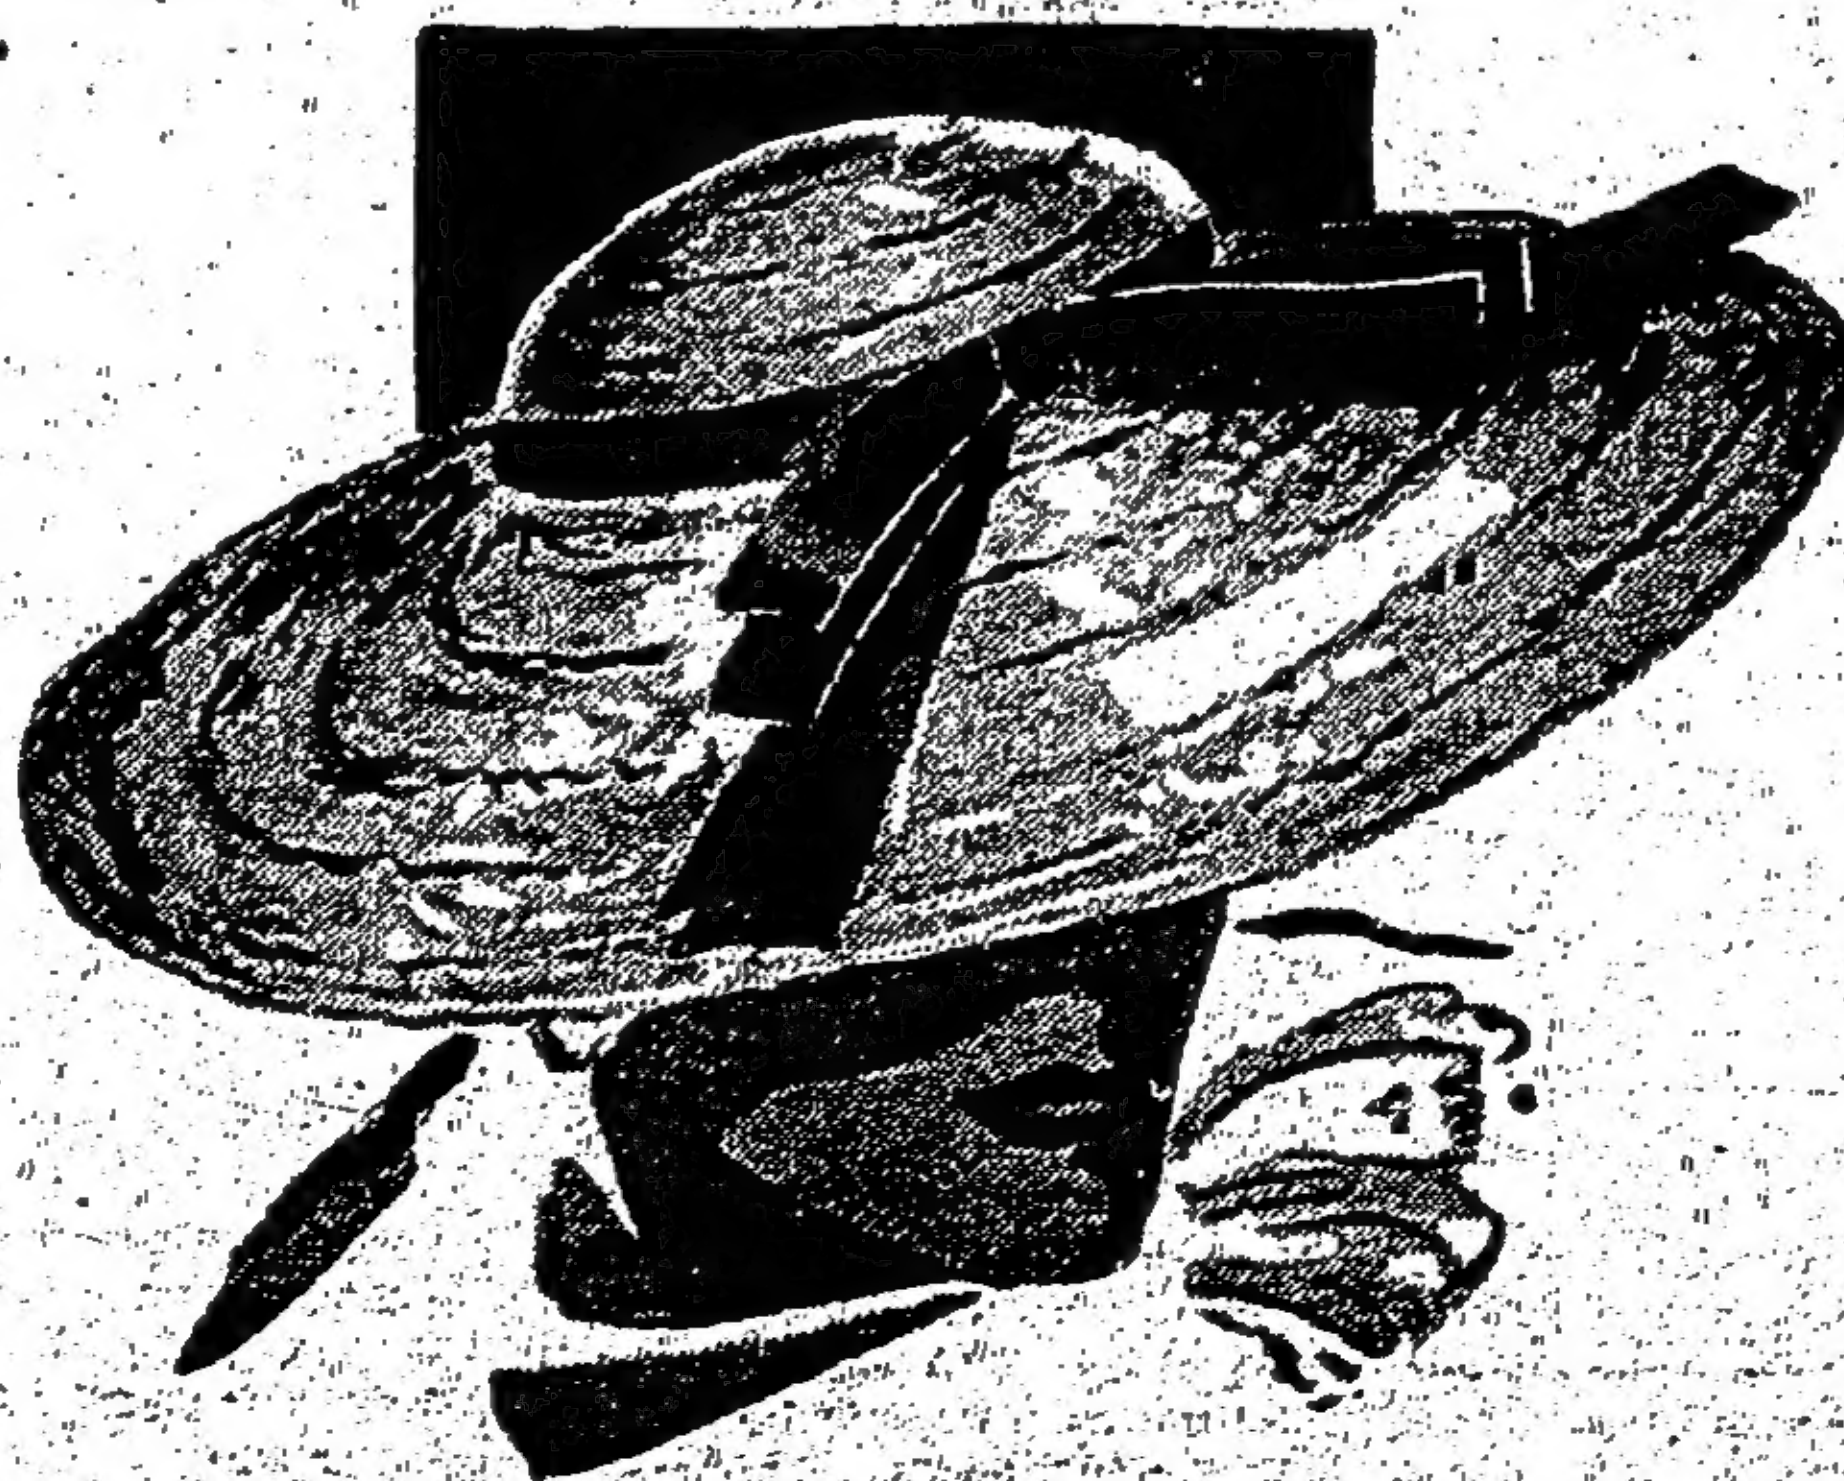

New Fashion Fabric
for Midsummer

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 27.

We have heard so much about the charm of the season's cotton materials that it is unnecessary to dwell on the new volles, ginghams, lawns, muslins, and the like. But now the lace manufacturers are claiming attention for their fabrics and showing such very charming specimens that we shall certainly "fall for" them. Coarse stiffened cotton lace is used for smart collars and cuffs

SOUTH SEAS DESIGNS"Savage" Trend In Fabrics

The tendency to "go native" in matters of interior decoration makes itself felt in the latest furnishing fabrics which, throwing to the four winds of Heavens the ribbons and roses of the traditional designs, have gone to the South Seas for inspiration.

Visions of Samoa and of Stevenson, of jungle growths and camp fires are conjured up by the new materials in which we are expected to cover our Chesterfield and envelop our divan.

Exotic Flowers

The flora of Java cluster their spike, exotic leaves upon a heavy cloth with a background so shaded as to suggest the sun rays endeavouring to assert themselves through a dense undergrowth.

Samoa has contributed the theme of a very arresting stuff, whose surface shows a cunning medley of conventionalised waves and some species of plant of the edible kind that in the neighbourhood of the Pacific supports life without effort. In these strenuous days a cheerful object for contemplation.

For those who have adopted the cult of the negroid carvings there is the appropriate hanging to be found in a cloth that is directly inspired, by the Tappa fabrics of the African, a mass of fine geometrical designs in brown on a fabric in the natural colour of the flax.

Cobra Curves

Something more sinister has gone to the planning of a material which simulates the sinuous movements of the cobra, its broad curves shading their colours gradually into one another so as to give a curious sense of vitality, such as is generally wanting in striped patternings. This applies likewise to another stripe motif that is derived from birch-bark, and really gives the effect of something that has life in it.

Another feature of the South Seas is conveyed by a fabric that is based on the swirl and whirl of a maelstrom.

He saw there a job for distributor. He could, by encouraging consumption, help the productive capacity of the country to work at normal pressure and to utilise the services of those who were seeking work.

Penny Post

Later in the proceedings a unanimous demand was made for the reinstitution of the penny post.

A resolution moved by Mr. T. Owen Jacobsen, London, declared that "this much-needed reform would give a wonderful impetus to the trade and industry of the country."

Mr. Jacobsen pointed out that they hoped to secure the penny post in next year's Budget by a strong national effort.

"This is a reform that is long overdue," he said. "The Government has taken from the Post Office an £18,000,000 surplus in ten years. They expect this year a surplus of over £12,000,000."

Mr. Jacobsen criticised the recent reduction in telephone charges as inadequate. They did not help the poor man very much, he said. The poor man had no telephone, but he did send out letters.

THE 'VICIOUS COCKTAIL'

Some Ideal Recipes For Bridge Parties

What should we do without the unassuming cocktail? He is mixed, and in turn is one of the best "mixers" we know. He helps to break the ice, and get people talking before tiffin or dinner. And what an excuse for parties on his own merits alone! Think of the numbers of people one can ask to these parties when it would be impossible to have them to dinner.

The poor cocktail is often maligned. We hear of the vicious cocktail habit, but the people who are "vicious" about cocktails would be vicious about some other drink if there were no cocktails.

It is interesting to know the details about how cocktail originated. At the end of the last century in the Southern States of America people found it pleasant, as they do in many other countries, to spend the hour before dinner sitting on their balconies admiring the setting sun and gossiping. The Southerner enjoyed the leisure as a connoisseur of the good things of life, and wished to make this time still more pleasant by having something particularly pleasant to drink. So he mixed a kind of cold punch, which was served from a large bowl and drunk out of tumblers.

The long drink gradually became shorter, meanwhile getting more popular all over America. It was first taken to England by the troops during the war and soon became the rage. No liqueurs were used at this time, but they were added when the custom was introduced to France.

How The Name Originated
The name cocktail is supposed to have originated in this way, but there are several different versions of the story. A landowner, somewhere in the Southern States, was entertaining a general.

His daughter, Coctel, in the excitement of preparing for the party mixed some drinks by mistake. However, the general was very pleased with the result and he christened the drink after the daughter of the house, and swore that he would make the drink famous in the army.

Nationalities differ very much in their choice of short drinks, Americans like them dry, such as the Daiquiri and Dry American. South Americans like a San Martini. The French like them sweet—Clover Club, Rose and Alexander. The Germans, and in fact most Continental folk, like very sweet cocktails.

People who hail from Scandinavian countries are faithful to their schnapps and punches. Dutchmen like one of their own gins with a touch of Angostura. English people like cocktails dry, but not as dry as the Americans take them.

Short Life for New Concoctions
New concoctions do not have a very long life as a rule. The prime favourites are still Martinis. White Ladies, Side Cars and Bronx. Young people are most likely to adventure with Murder on the Second Floor and Satan's Whiskers. Martinis are "drunk more than anything else, partly because they are one of the most inexpensive, and often because people cannot be bothered to think of anything else.

Tomato juice and passion fruit juice are the latest additions, the former was introduced about four years ago. It makes a nice clear drink taken with a dash of Worcester sauce and some celery salt; some like the addition of sherry, and it is very popular with vodka.

Here are some recipes recommended by the cocktail-mixer of a famous London club.

Daiquiri:—Two thirds Bacardi rum, one third lime juice, one teaspoonful castor sugar.

French Rose:—One sixth Dubonnet, one third Cavalcade, one sixth cherry brandy, one sixth Gordon's gin.

Passion Fruit Juice:—One half Gordon's gin, one third passion fruit juice, one sixth French vermouth, one sixth white Curacao.

San Martini:—One half Gordon's gin, one quarter Italian vermouth, one quarter French vermouth.

Some cocktails with unusual flavours:
Margot:—One half Gordon's gin, one sixth Grenadine, one sixth Maraschino, one sixth lemon juice, Mademoiselle:—One half apricot brandy, one half orange bitters.

Side Car:—One third brandy, one third Cointreau, one third lemon juice. To make a Side Car into an Earthquake add a dash of vodka.

American Dry:—Three fourths Gordon's gin, one fourth dry vermouth, dash of orange bitters.

AGITATION BY PEOPLE

For Removal of Magistrate

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, July 10.

Clamour by the people of the Chungshan model county for the disposal of Mr. Tang Shao Yi as their magistrate is still going on, but no formal action is likely to be brought against this official owing to his long public career and close association with the leaders here.

As a member of the South-west
Political Council and Kuomintang
South-west Executive Committee,
Mr. Tang is one of the elder statesmen in Canton. When a separate government was in existence here in 1931, Mr. Tang's co-operation in diplomacy was sought, as he was a close friend of President Hoover.

Mr. Tang is also chairman of the constitutional committee of the model county. His duties are to take a census, fix the farm taxes, organize a police force, and facilitate communications. He has to effect county autonomy so that the people will receive enough political training to elect their own magistrate.

Mr. Tang Shao Yi received his appointment from the National Government, since a model county is not subject to the control of the Kwangtung Provincial Government. Therefore, the South-west Political Council will not take any action against him but apparently leaves the matter to Nanking.

It is learned that unless Mr.
Tang Shao Yi tenders his resignation voluntarily, no impeachment proceedings can ensue. Mr. Tan-g's is now sounding those county people who support him and ascertain whether they will issue a telegram refusing the charges against him. If he receives sufficient backing, he will stick to his job. On the other hand, if the agitators prove too strong against him, Mr. Tang will relinquish his post in favour of a younger man. A Yale graduate and former premier of the Peking regime, Magistrate Tang is well known in foreign circles here and abroad.

JUDGE WANG
CHUNG HUI

On a Visit to China

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, July 10.

Dr. Wang Chung Hui, eminent Chinese jurist and judge of the World Court, is due to arrive here to-day from Hong Kong, and a secretary of the Southwest Political Council went to Hong Kong to welcome Dr. Wang to this city.

Shortly after his return from Europe, Judge Wang called on Mr. Hu Han Min, former President of the Legislative Yuan, and informed him the international situation as observed from The Hague. Dr. Wang was President of the Judicial Yuan at Nanking, when Mr. Hu was detained at Tangshan by order of General Chiang Kai Shek, then Commander-in-Chief of the national forces.

Members of the South-west Political Council are anxious to learn from Dr. Wang Chung Hui
the attitude of the Powers towards China especially the Manchurian issue. The Canton leaders have never approved the weak-kneed diplomacy of the Nanking Government and would demand stronger action, if they know the international situation is favourable to such action.

Dr. Wang told Chinese newspaper men at Hong Kong that he would go to Nanking for a visit but would return to The Hague sometime in the autumn to resume the judgeship of the Permanent Court of International Justice with which he is connected from its inception. He was chosen because of his legal attainments and not in any way as a representative of China or any other country.

The World Court judge left China in the summer of 1931 upon giving up his presidency of the Judicial Yuan in Nanking, when at that time there were strong agitations against the dictatorship of General Chiang Kai Shek.

RICE CROP BAD
AT HUCHOW

Weather and Problems of Ice and Water

Huchow, Che, July 3.

For many days the one subject of conversation among all classes of the people has been the lack of rain. For over a month never has the surface of the ground been wet. The outlook for the rice crop is bad, for at this time of year when all the rice plants ought to have been set out and to be growing well in the fields, only about a third of the planting has been done—due to the lack of water—and the plants already set out are fairly gasping for life.

Reports from all outlying districts speak despairingly of the crop situation. The ground has become hard and cracked, the smaller canals are dried up while the larger ones have become impassable for boats. Men, women, and children pump water day and night, wherever there is any, but the water evaporates and the canals become lines of mud. Processions to beseech for rain are held and all the gods are applica-ted for help, but no slightest sign of relief has yet appeared, and every day blazing sun still further weakens and withers all growing things. Unless rain comes soon, say the farmers, nothing will remain of their hopes for a harvest.

City Feels Drought

The city people are also feeling the effects of the drought. Wells generally are dry or nearly so, and as the water of the city canals is foul coolies have to be employed to bring a somewhat purer quality of water from the river and the main canals outside the city. This is a time when it is to be regretted that the offer of the Electric Light Company to furnish pure water to the city was not taken up. Fortunately the Company is supplying plenty of pure ice.

For the past nine days the mercury has been hovering around the 100 mark, and three times has reached that point, the hottest day having a temperature of 102.2. One strange thing about this unusual hot spell is that the heat is no so hard to endure as has been experienced many a time when the mercury ran well below 100. The dryness of the atmosphere may be thanked for this, probably.

Compared with the stagnation elsewhere is Huchow's business the Methodist Mission is showing evidences of progress. At the fine hospital plant at the south gate a residence for Dr. Patterson, the chief surgeon, is going up and will probably be finished by the last of September. At the Haitau compound the middle school has already completed an attractive arrangement for the training and demonstration of old-fashioned Chinese boxing; there are dressing rooms, bathrooms, stages for the athletes, a director's platform, and stone seats for the spectators. The school is now putting up a three storey brick and reinforced concrete building for classroom purposes and assembly, to be finished about the first of October.

RETRENCHMENT IN KWANGSI

Weeding Out of Army Staff

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, July 10.

The Fourth Group Army in Kwangsi has embarked on an retrenchment policy in order that more funds will be available for reconstruction, education, and other creative purposes.

In view of the peaceful conditions in Kwangsi, military expenses can be cut down. Effective from this month all the political directors attached to each regiment, battalion and company are dispensed with. These officers merely give political and Kuomintang instruction to the soldiers, and such work is considered unnecessary now.

Another way of reducing expenses is to dismiss orderlies attached to the officers of the General Staff, and sectional or department heads at the headquarters of the Fourth Group Army. An officer was entitled to one to four orderlies depending on his rank.

In eliminating these sinecure posts, the Fourth Group Army expects to save over $100,000 a month. This is a lot of money to Kwangsi, as its revenue is about $1,500,000 a month, one-fifth of that of Kwangtung.

UNIVERSAL PICTURE

WHISTLING IN THE DARK

Thrills And Laughs At The Queen's

With Ernest Truex and Una Merkel in the leading roles, "Whistling in the Dark" which opened its run at the Queen's Theatre yesterday is both a "laughing and thrilling picture" and should prove immensely popular with local cinema-goers.

It is seldom that one is privileged to enjoy both laughs and thrills in a picture, but in "Whistling in the Dark" the picture has not only these two "ingredients" but also an unusual background for a story which is thoroughly entertaining.

The story in short concerns the adventures of a mystery novel author who is forced to devise a "perfect crime" for a band of crooks under the threat of death. He concocts a deadly scheme and the way in which he warns his victim without leaving the house in which he and his fiancée are held captive provides the high lights of the picture.

Ernest Truex who was last seen in "Warrior's Husbands" gave a perfect characterisation of the frightened author and was ably supported by Una Merkel, the well-known comedienne, as his fiancée, Edward Arnold, John Miljan, C. Henry Gordon, Johnny Hines, Joseph Cawthorn and Nat Pendleton.

The picture is well worth seeing.

"I LOVED A WOMAN"

A Robinson-Francis Hit

Replicas of the picturesque though tumbledown homes of Chicago's Packingtown in the nineties were constructed for the First National picture, "I Loved A Woman," which is starring Edward G. Robinson with Kay Francis heading the supporting roles.

One house in which some of the important sequences is enacted, is a one story board shack, occupied by a man and his wife, her mother and four small children, two of them sick. The interior shows one small room in which all seven sleep and eat, when they have food. The walls are bare of any plastering and the winds of winter and the hot blasts of summer sweep in.

The furniture consists of but one bed in which some of the members of the family sleep, the others lying on rugs on the floor. There is one dilapidated wooden rocker for the aged woman, two broken chairs and boxes for the children. A wreck of a stove and a bare table complete the furnishings. Outside is mud and filth.

It is these conditions that Edward G. Robinson, as a wealthy young packer with high ideals, sets out to remedy, although later in life he becomes the most ruthless of all the packers. He it is who is singled out by Theodore Roosevelt, when president, to prosecute for selling contaminated meat to the soldiers in the Spanish American war.

The picture is an epic of Packingtown in the nineties following the lives of its principals down to the present time, with one of the most amazing love intrigues ever depicted.

Also in the cast are Genevieve Tobin, Murray Kinnell, George

THE MELBOURNE CENTENARY

Goldfields Homecoming

Ballarat, third city of Victoria, and world-famous because of the district's phenomenally rich gold yields during the latter half of last century, will play an important part in the Victorian and Melbourne Centenary Celebrations. Features of the Ballarat programme will include the greatest firemen's demonstration ever seen in Australia, the South Street Elstedford climaxing in the Centenary Band contest, a great Aerial Derby, an agricultural show, a monster carnival, and a special race meeting. And associated with these fixtures will be a grand homecoming in which all ex-residents of Ballarat are invited to participate.

LONG LOST FATHER

John Barrymore's role in "Long Lost Father," his new starring production for RKO-Radio Pictures, now showing at the King's Theatre, is said to be a character coat cut, matched and stitched to fit immaculately the serio-comedy talents of the star.

Heading an auspicious cast including Donald Cook, Helen Chandler and others, Barrymore plays the title role in "Long Lost Father." He experiences a new romance when he attempts to reconcile his own daughter to filial obedience in unconventional fashion.

Barrymore is seen as Carl Bellard, fashionable London townsman, and in his working hours in a cabaret. To his place of entertainment comes a new entertainer in the person of Lindsey Lane, a lithe and adept dancer. She is Carl's daughter whom he deserted in her infancy. Lindsey detests the man who calls himself her father, and lets the fur fly in showing him her resentment of him.

Carl deserts his regular romantic following to reclaim her affection for him as a father. Eventually, Carl's opportunity comes in a crime involving Lindsey of which she is innocent. With no one to guide her, she seeks aid from her father, he will lose her if he succeeds, but he will have the satisfaction of knowing her as a grateful child.

A romance between Miss Chandler and Donald Cook also features the story of "Long Lost Father" when Barrymore stipulates that his success at exonerating her will be rewarded by her immediate marriage to Cook. Sprightly humour and intriguing comedy are present in adequate quantities.

"Long Lost Father" also casts E. E. Olive, Alan Mowbray, Reginald Sharland, Natalie Moorhead and Ferdinand Gottschalk. Ernest B. Schoedsack directed from Dwight Taylor's adaptation of G. B. Stern's novel.

How Film Stars Are Made

"Only a great love story can really launch stars." Al Rockett, Fox Film producer, is the authority for the statement, as he introduced a comparative newcomer, teamed with a well-known player, to American films.

"The situation is not easily explained," Rockett admitted. "It takes a great love story to launch the actor or actress, true enough, but it also takes a great actor or actress to fulfill the role well enough to win the stardom. Finding that combination is usually the result of long study and search."

Rockett's analysis of what it takes to reach the heights of stardom came at an opportune moment. He had announced the casting of Hugh Williams for the leading male role in "All Men Are Enemies" coming to the King's Theatre on Saturday opposite Barrie. The announcement was a surprise, for it was well known that half a dozen of the screen's best known actors had been considered for the role.

Meanwhile, Williams was as yet unassigned following his arrival at the Fox Film studios from London. There he was known as one of the most brilliant of the younger actors, and one who had given magnificent performances in varied types of parts.

A screen test—the ordinary procedure for any newcomer to a Hollywood studio—caught Rockett's eye. He ordered a series of tests of Williams in the part—and the rest soon will be screen history.

"It was a question of putting ability before name," Rockett says. "Here we had a remarkable actor and I felt one destined for the top ranks. The story of 'All Men Are Enemies' is outstanding in its emotional romance. Finally, I realised that Williams would make the part perfect—and the part would immediately place him high in the estimation of the public."

AT THE KING'S

Barrymore In "Long Lost Father"

Those who know John Barrymore need no recommendation from film critics as regards the merits of films in which he appears in the stellar role. Those who do not know John Barrymore will do well to visit the King's Theatre where the current attraction, "Long Lost Father," is sure to repay them for their trouble.

The story is one of sparkling wit and sophisticated humour. There are moments of delightful modern comedy as well as poignant drama. Barrymore playing a role of a parent's authority over a daughter whom he had deserted in her infancy reveals his histrionic ability in the role cast for him.

Adapted from a novel by G. B. Stern, "Long Lost Father" is a story which is sure to appeal. After a separation of twenty years, father and daughter meet in a London night club which the father manages and where the daughter is hired as a dancing entertainer. During the girl's life she had been brought up to abhor her father for neglecting her mother.

In his attempt to show the girl that he is still her father, Barrymore antagonises the girl. In a crisis brought about by a theft, the girl and her parent are reconciled. The end of the story is quite as intriguing as its beginning. The supporting cast is quite a good one and includes Helen Chandler, Donald Cook, Reginald Sharland, and E. E. Olive.

In its emotional romance. Finally, I realised that Williams would make the part perfect—and the part would immediately place him high in the estimation of the public."

THOUGHT IT WAS HIS CAR!

Young Chinese In Trouble

When summoned before Mr. Hamilton at Central Magistracy yesterday for having driven car No. 293 without a driver's licence and for having driven it without the permission of the owner, Henry Wong, a student, pleaded that he thought he was the owner of the car as he had paid $250 as part payment to a man named Ip. The car belonged to Mr. M. T. Fung.

An Indian motor car driver, Yakob Khan, who was jointly charged with having driven the same car without the permission of the owner, was discharged, the case against him being withdrawn after evidence.

Traffic Inspector Nicol, who prosecuted, stated that the complainant left the car in Statue Square on Monday morning. At different times he went there for the car, but could not find it. He then made a report to the police. As soon as the report was circulated, a message was received from the Shaikwan Police Station, saying that the car had been involved in an accident. The Indian had been to the station to make a report. He was a licensed driver. He told the police that he drove the car from Statue Square along Des Voeux Road to No. 7 Police Station, and Wong drove it from there right round the Island to where the accident occurred. They were both in company when the car was removed. Wong was alleged to have asked the Indian to drive round the Island for $10. Wong left the Indian to report the accident.

Owner's Evidence

Mr. M. T. Fung, the owner of the car, stated he had not given permission to anybody to drive the car. He did not know Wong or the Indian. When he got the car back later, the steering wheel was damaged, the cost of the damage amounting to $173. He did not know a man by the name of Ip. He had not authorised anybody to sell the car.

Yakob Khan said he was a licensed motor driver. About 9 a.m. on Monday Wong had approached him, and said he would give him $10 to drive the car for three hours. He agreed, and went with Wong, who pointed out two cars to him, saying they belonged to him. They took the Austin car, No. 293, and Wong asked him to drive to his office and then to his house in Queen's Road. They then drove back to Chater Road, where Wong said he had some business at Aberdeen, and requested him to take him there. He drove as far as the No. 7 Police Station, and at the guards house, Wong asked him to change places, and allow him to drive. He did not ask Wong whether he had a licence, because he thought he was the owner.

The Accident

When they reached Aberdeen, continued witness, Wong said he wanted to go round the Island, and continued driving. On reaching Lyceum, the car suddenly turned over. They were not hurt. Wong asked him to report the accident at the station. After going about with Wong for the rest of the afternoon, he left him at 5.30 p.m. Wong never paid him the $10. The accident occurred about 12 noon.

Replying to Wong, witness denied he was driving at the time of the accident.

Mr. W. A. Shea, who was driving back to Hongkong from Shouson Hill via Deepwater Bay, said he overtook No. 293, an Austin tourer. His attention was drawn to it, because it was being badly driven. He recognised Wong driving it. He knew Wong by sight.

The Defence

In the witness box, Wong stated that a man named Ip, who was a car driver, had told him on Saturday he had an Austin car for sale. Ip brought the car to Wanchai to him, and asked $400 for it. The number of the car was 293. He paid Ip $250 on account, and Ip said he would give him a receipt when the balance was paid. Ip also told him he would find the car in Statue Square on Monday, and asked him to go and take it.

He went there on Monday, but as he did not know how to drive, he intended engaging a chauffeur. He asked Khan to test the car for him. Khan asked him $10 and Khan drove the car as far as Aberdeen, when he began driving it. After he had tested it for a short time, he gave the driving wheel over to Khan to drive. Near Shaikwan, the car suddenly skidded and smashed. He thought the car was his own. He went with Khan to the station to report the accident.

Replying to Mr. Hamilton, witness said he was a schoolboy. A man named R. C. Mitchell gave him the money to buy the car. He wanted to engage a driver. Mitchell sent him $85 every month from Shanghai. The $250 represented the money he had, thus saved up. He could not find the man named Ip. He formerly went to Queen's College, and had left over a month ago to start business. He wanted to go to Shanghai to get money to start business. He had a father and a mother.

Case Adjourned

Mr. Hamilton adjourned the case until 11 a.m. on Saturday, remanding Wong in police custody. His father and mother would be called, and he would be given a chance to look for Ip.

In discharging Khan, Mr. Hamilton remarked that it was quite obvious that he was teaching Wong to drive, without a learner's licence. Fortunately he was not charged with that. The case against him was withdrawn, as the evidence did not substantiate it. He hoped, however, the Inspector General of Police would have a few words to say to him.

SUMMONS DISMISSED

Remarking that there was no evidence, Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday dismissed the summons against Mr. Chan Yin, managing director of the Grand Dispensary and manager of the Hongkong Motorcar Service Company, for causing a public car, a bucket of water and a cleaner to be left in the roadway of Leighton Hill Road, thus causing an obstruction.

Mr. P. H. Sin appeared for the defence and pleaded not guilty.

An Indian constable stated that two persons were in the car at the time. He warned them to move at 8.30 a.m. and they were still there at 9 o'clock. He obtained particulars from the garage, as the persons in the car refused to give him any.

Mr. Sin: Do you know that the person who is in charge of the vehicle is in law liable?

Constable: Yes.

Mr. Sin submitted the defendant had no case to answer. He did not cause the vehicle to be placed there.

Defendant, in evidence, said that all his cars were washed in his garage at No. 33 Leighton Hill Road.

The magistrate agreed there was no evidence against the defendant and dismissed the summons.

HOW HE GOT A CAMERA

As a result of the arrest of Cheun So Lam, 27, a new Kodak camera with case is awaiting a claimant at the Central Police Station.

The man was produced before Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday on a charge of being in unlawful possession of the camera, and according to Sergeant Goodwin, he was arrested in a pawnshop in Wing Lok Street. He claimed the camera as his property, but later admitted that he had been "running" for a sly-brother. He took a sailor, to whom the camera belonged, to a house in Swatow Lane. When the latter left, he forgot his camera, and defendant took it.

A fine of $10 or fourteen days, in default, was imposed.

Another Case

A piece of lace, valued at $5 per yard, was found in the possession of Lo Chung, aged 37, when he was arrested in Hollywood Road. He also was fined ten dollars or fourteen days.

Defendant at first claimed to be the owner of the lace stating that he purchased it to be made up for his wife in the country. At the station, he said he picked it up in the street.

For posting as policemen and attempting to extort a bribe from a hawker at No. 4 Railway Bridge, two men, Au Cheung-Kit and Lai Hung, were sent to prison by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Court yesterday morning. The first named received five months and his companion two months.

Preventive officers under R. O. Humphreys raided a junk in the typhoon shelter on Wednesday night, when they arrested three women, who comprised the crew, and seized a large quantity of Chinese opium, clerical concealed

DEFRAUDING THE "TUNG WAH"

Chinese Dresser
Fined

"Although the sum involved is very small, the Directors of the Tung Wah Hospital thought there is a great deal of irregularity in these men and the purpose of this case was to put a check to it," remarked Mr. Peter H. Sin at Central Magistracy yesterday when he appeared on behalf of the Tung Wah Hospital to prosecute one of its employees, Li Wan Hoi, 28, for the embezzlement of three dollars and falsification of a receipt book.

The case was heard by Mr. Q.A.A. Macfadyen, and the defendant denied the charges.

Outlining the facts of the case, Mr. Sin said: I appear for the complainants, the Tung Wah Hospital and I have the permission of the Hon. I.Q.P. to prosecute. The complainants are a body incorporated under an ordinance of 1930 and the defendant is a dresser employed at the hospital. The duties of the defendant are, among other things, to attend to the ambulance which could be hired by the public. There is an ambulance operated by the Tung Wah Hospital, and they have regulated charges, which are as follows:

$3 per trip for conveying any patient from any address to any hospital in the Colony, but $1.50 per trip for conveying any patient from any address to any hospital connected with the Tung Wah Hospital, that is the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital and the Kwong Wah Hospital in Kowloon.

The regulated charges are printed most distinctly in the receipt book which the defendant takes charge and his duty is to give a receipt to a person who hires the ambulance.

On July 1 in response to a call by one Chan Ping whose brother Chan Kiu was ill, the defendant accompanied the ambulance to No. 49, Graham Street, ground floor for the purpose of taking the patient to the Government Civil Hospital. It will be proved that before leaving the house, a sum of $3 was paid by Chan Wai Ping to the defendant who gave him a receipt. That $3 constituted the charges for conveying the patient from No. 49, Graham Street to the Government Civil Hospital.

Accordingly, the defendant conveyed Chan Kiu to the Government Civil Hospital, accompanied by his brother, Chan Wai Ping who, as I have just stated, paid $3 in respect of which the defendant handed him a receipt. There is a counterfoil receipt, kept by the defendant so as to enable him to pay in to the assistant steward when he returned to the hospital.

It is alleged by the prosecution that the patient, Chan Kiu, not having been able to gain admission to the Government Civil Hospital, his brother directed the defendant to convey him to the Tung Wah Hospital. Inside the ambulance, just before they started to go from the Government Civil Hospital to the Tung Wah Hospital, the defendant further received a sum of $1.50, for which he gave no receipt for some reason unknown to the prosecution.

It is alleged that in point of fact the defendant received a total sum of $4.50 for the two trips. It will be proved that the counterfoil receipt which showed the destination as the Government Civil Hospital, had been altered by the defendant just before he paid the money in to the assistant steward. He charged the destination to the Tung Wah Hospital instead of from No. 49, Graham Street to Government Civil Hospital.

The charges against the defendant are therefore that he had embezzled $3 contrary to section 55 of the Larceny Ordinance of 1885 and also falsified a counterfoil receipt which is in the account contrary to section 74 of the same ordinance.

Evidence was then given in support of Mr. Sin's outline, after which His Worship convicted the defendant, imposing a fine of $10 on the first charge and $10 on the second.

In a false bulk-head. One of the women, who claimed full responsibility was fined a total of $5.750 or nine months' hard labour in default, when she appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Court yesterday morning. The junk of 27 piculs capacity, was confiscated.

Wong Kan-po, a licensed motor driver, was discharged by Mr. Hamilton, at the Central Magis-

MONK LOSES HIS MONEY.Waylaid by Old
Employees

A monk named Yui Sam 49, has made a report to the police authorities to the effect that he was waylaid at 3.30 p.m. yesterday while on his way from Tsun Wan to Kowloon and robbed of $50.

He told the police the names of his assailants, who had previously been in his employ. They asked for employment and pretended to be very interested in the old man's answers. In the midst of their conversation one of them produced a knife and slashed at the old man's girdle while the other held the old man to prevent him from struggling.

As a result of the struggle the victim received a cut in his face through falling ten yards down the hillside. His injury fortunately is not serious.

KOWLOON AND
CANTON LINERailway Receipts
Question

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, July 12. Formal negotiations for a revision of the Canton-Kowloon Railway agreement is to take place to-day at Hong Kong. The Chinese section is represented by three officials from the Ministry of Railways and three others appointed by the Kwangtung Provincial Government.

The first agreement was concluded in March 3, 1907 and was signed by Mr. Tang Shao Yi on behalf of the Chinese Government. The Anglo-Chinese Corporation advanced £1,410,000 to the Chinese section for the construction of this line.

The length of this railway is 112 miles. The Chinese section begins from Canton Shumchun at a distance of 89 miles, while the British section runs from Chumchun to Kowloon at a distance of 23 miles. Although the British section is one-fourth of the total distance, its share is 35 per cent. of the receipts.

As the Kowloon section is 20 per cent. of the total distance, the Chinese section desires that the British section takes its share according to the ratio of mileage.

According to an official of the railway, the receipts of the railway have fallen off during recent months to $5,000 a day. The income six months ago was $7,000 a day and 8,000 during Saturdays and Sundays. The decreasing business is due to the high fares as compared with steamers.

that they were prepared, at any time, to approach the Government for further grounds and also private landowners for small plots of unused land, as soon as the Committee could see its way to equip and maintain them. The speaker went on to appeal for more support and it was revealed that there are still some clubs and associations who are not members of the Children's Playground Association although it costs but $50 per annum for such a privilege. That, in our opinion, is to be deplored. It would be a kind act if all Clubs were to help this deserving cause and it would be well for the reluctant ones to ponder how they would be placed, were they to be deprived of their own plot of ground, even if this should consist of only a couple of tennis courts. Individual membership may be obtained by the payment of only $10 per annum and here again it is the duty of all who can afford that $10 to help.

In connection with the Wanchai playground, we would ask if this plot is solely for the use of children as the grown-ups seem to be making use of it more than the little ones. It would be rather hard on the youngsters if they were "crowded out" by bigger fellows, and unless the children are getting their fair share of the benefits that are to be derived from the playground, we go so far as to suggest excluding "grown-ups" on it except during specified hours.

TOBACCO TAX

Change Of Control

Nanking, June 29.—Beginning from July 1, the Tobacco and Wine License Tax, which has hitherto been collected as National Revenue, will be transferred to the control of the Provincial authorities with a view to facilitating the readjustment of Provincial finances. It is announced at the Ministry of Finance.

The Stamp Tax Bureau and the Tobacco and Wine Tax Bureau in the different provinces have been instructed to wind up immediately those affairs relating to the Tobacco and Wine License Tax. The license forms, however, will continue to be printed by the Ministry of Finance for the purpose of securing uniformity.—Kuo Min.

ANGLO-FRENCH NAVAL DISCUSSIONS

London, July 11.

In the continuation of the Anglo-French bilateral naval conversations, experts attached to the British and French delegations were again in consultation yesterday.

Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, said in the House of Commons that he proposed to make a statement on the subject of this week's conversations between himself and the French Foreign Minister in London during the course of the foreign affairs debate in the Commons on Friday.—British Wireless.

SINGAPORE'S CHINATOWN

Singapore, July 7.

Slowly but surely the slums of Singapore's Chinatown are being made healthier and pleasanter for the people to live in, by the work of the Singapore Improvement Trust.

When the Trust commenced operations, the property incorporated in its first scheme for "clearing up" was purchased outright and pulled down. But in addition to such a procedure costing far too much money to be of economic value, it was found that in slum tenements no one wished to purchase the cleared site and rebuild on it.

Now procedure of the Improvement Trust is to open up the areas they deal with by making a back lane through behind the houses—all the areas they are taking in hand consist of solid blocks of buildings—and by providing a small open space in between to give light and air to the houses.

AUSTRIAN MINISTER TO BERLIN

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Vienna, July 11.

It is understood here that the Austrian Government does not contemplate replacing the Minister to Berlin, Tauschitz, who has been appointed Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. In view of the strained German-Austrian relations, it is proposed not to fill the vacant post of Berlin envoy for the present, but the final decision in this, as in many other questions, will probably be taken after the Dollfus-Muscolini meeting at Vienne at the end of July.—Transocean Kuo Min.

STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER

(By "NO QUARTER")

The proposals and counter-proposals for the extension of the Peak Tramway to the Queen's Road Level have aroused a storm of controversy. Mrs. Marina was loud in her condemnation of the scheme and spoke for forty minutes at the Womanly Woman's Guild in this connection.

"Picture to yourself," she said, "what will happen when the quiet decent citizens of Wahchal and West Point can no longer keep themselves aloof from the pleasure-loving scum that inhabit the upper levels. You all know of the orgies that take place nightly on the Peak, where young girls are bathed in champagne."

At this point Mrs. Ruglinson, who was again very drunk, was heard asking for the address. She was carried out, singing "Fiz! Fiz! O'ime samiz!"

NO MORE PLEASE

The power of the Press has been demonstrated to me in the most remarkable manner. For the benefit of those treacherous dogs who missed last Friday's exquisite little trifle, I repeat it below.

"Personal: Will the gentleman who took my wife from the cloak room of the Hong Kong Club in mistake for his own kindly return the same to No. 10888 the Peak when I shall have much pleasure in restoring his own." A simple advertisement I should have thought. Yet up to date 43 completely strange wives have been left on my doorstep; some of them have become extremely attached to me, but the thing can't go on. Will everybody please realize that I am suited, the position is filled.

My own wife is still at large.

CONSTITUTION FOR
CHINA REVISEDHigh Powers To Be Vested
With President

Shanghai, July 1.

China will have a president and he will be vested with high political and military powers, if the draft constitution to be published in a day or two to invite public criticism is adopted.

The constitution is a revised version of the one which was published by the Legislative Yuan a few months ago. The revision, completed in Nanking yesterday, was made after the Yuan had deliberated on different opinions from various quarters on the subject.

Instead of containing fifteen chapters, the constitution has now seventeen chapters, one chapter dealing with military affairs and the other with finance having been added to the original.

Discussing the details of the document with press representatives, Mr. Sun Fo, President of the Legislative Yuan, who arrived from Nanking yesterday, stated that the principle of conscription had been recognized and should be revised document be adopted all troops in the country would come under the command of the President.

The Legislative Yuan had devised adequate measures against the organizing of troops by provincial or district authorities. Mr. Sun continued. The constitution also provided for the creation of an independent organization handling military supplies, while military officers would not be permitted to meddle with politics or hold administrative posts. No military officer would be appointed a provincial governor or to a similar post; it would be possible only three years after his retirement from military service.

The President would no longer be a figure-head, but would be responsible for administration. No military officer would be eligible for election to the post of a President or a Vice-President. The National People's Congress was vested with the power of election and dismissal. Mr. Sun revealed.

Two months after the publication of the revised document, the Legislative Yuan will call a general meeting for final discussions of it.

Kanazawa, July 12. Heavy rains are flooding down from Hakusan Range, turning streams into raging torrents. Tremendous damage has been done in the coast area from Suruga to Toyama. CUSTOMS IMPORT TARIFF

Reduction Of Duty On Paper

Nanking, July 4.—Interviewed regarding the revised Customs Import Tariff, a spokesman of the Ministry of Finance said that the new tariff not only will improve the income of the Government but also facilitate the readjustment of various domestic and foreign loans. The tariff is comparatively light, he added, when compared with that enforced in other countries.

With regard to the complaint of paper merchants against the reduction of the import duty on this article, the spokesman said that the reduction was made in accordance with the repeated petitions of various publishing companies.

Since there are no large paper mills in the country, he said, the reduction of the import duty on foreign paper is perfectly warranted, as it will indirectly reduce the cost of books. The complaint of the paper merchants is made entirely with a view to increasing the price of paper so as to add to their profits.

The Government has increased the import duty on luxuries, metal and chemicals, since they are, or can be, produced in China without importation from abroad, he added. Kuo Min.

The address was given by a Social-Democrat, Humelhaus, at the end of the International Labour Olympiad before a large crowd including members of the Government, the diplomatic corps, the army and the chancellor. CHAPOO LAND DEMAND

Heavy Tax From Foreigners

Shanghai, July 12. A circular letter sent to Chapoo landowners by the Chikiang authorities states that unless a 40 per cent. tax on the assessed valuation of the property is paid by July 15, the owners will forfeit all rights and the property will revert to the Provincial Government.

Some foreign owners declare that the tax is illegal.

The construction for fortifications is the excuse given by the authorities, who are continuing to dig trenches on the property of owners who have not paid the tax. It is rumoured that military enforcement of the evacuation order will be adopted, but this has not been confirmed.—Reuter.

According to an earlier report, a delicate situation has arisen in consequence of the determined refusal of the French Lazarist Fathers and the Marist Brothers to comply with an order to abandon their property within three days. The French authorities ordered the missions to stay where they are and in the meantime have strongly protested to Nanking.

M. BARTHOUS VISIT TO LONDON

Public Opinion From Many Sources

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Paris, July 11. The diplomatic ball set rolling so vigorously by Barthou's Monday visit to London is expected to bring a speedy follow-up action by the British Ambassadors to Berlin and Rome, according to Press reports here on Wednesday. It is anticipated the British diplomats will lay the "East Locarno" proposition before the German and Italian Governments and urge their participation. In case Berlin and Rome are cool to the suggestion, the Anglo-French negotiations will be resumed, according to the Paris Press which further judges that then England is likely to offer no opposition to the French overtures for the regional pact and measures of mutual assistance.

The general opinion is that the acceptance of the East Locarno Pact offers by Rome and Berlin is hardly to be reckoned on and especially as regards the comments of the "Echo d'Paris" and "Oeuvre"—that under the circumstances France would actually prefer refusal.—Transocean Kuo Min.

EAST LOCARNO PACT

Moscow, July 11. The actual conclusion of the "East Locarno Pact" is regarded in official circles here as imminent following Barthou's visit to London, though the credit for the idea of the pact and the energy exerted in carrying it to success is mainly attributed to Litvinov. "It is taken for granted that France and Russia will assume the role of guarantors to such an agreement while the door will be left open also to those who to date turned down the entrance offers." London, July 11. A complaint was made in the House of Commons at question time to-day that the closing of British Consulates in China, due to the shortage of officials was causing inconvenience to British traders.

Sir John Simon anticipated that the Tsinan Consulate would be re-opened at an early date, Ichang in the autumn, and Newchwang not later than the Spring. Meanwhile, the Consular facilities in the districts affected were being supplied by neighbouring Consular posts.—Reuter.

Nine Captured by Bandits

Peking, July 12.

Dr. Sven Hedin, the Swedish explorer, and a party of nine, including four foreigners are reported to have been captured by bandits in the Dungan region, Sinkiang.

The news was received by Mr. Boekenkamp, a former member of the expedition, in a telegram from Anshu, dated July 4. The captors are believed to be supporters of the Moslem leader, Chung Ying, and the captives are believed to have been taken to Aksu.

The party includes Mr. Harold Kikegaard, Postal Commissioner at Peking, and Dr. Parker Chen, the noted Chinese geologist. No particulars have yet been received by the Danish Minister and the British Legation.—Reuter.

HONGKONG FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION

PRESIDENT'S APPEAL TO "PLAY THE GAME"

Tribute To The Late Mr. Lo Cheung Shui

"I make an earnest appeal to players and spectators alike, and in this I include all communities, for the fault by no means lies on one side alone, to play the game as it is meant to be played keenly but cleanly," said the Hon. Sir Thomas Southern, K.B.E., at the annual meeting of the Hong Kong Football Association at the Sports Club yesterday, when, in the course of his presidential address, he referred to the unpleasant feature of the Council's report for the year in which it stated that several cases of misconduct came before the Emergency Committee and that three matches were abandoned through fighting between the players.

The President also congratulated the Chinese Olympic Football team for their success in the Far Eastern Olympic, and the South Wales Borderers on winning the Senior Challenge Shield, the First Division of the League and the Sunday Herald International Cup.

A tribute to the late Mr. Lo Cheung Shui was also made by the President.

Hon. Sir Thomas Southern Re-Elected President

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH

The Hon. Sir Thomas Southern, the President of the Association, said:

Gentlemen.—Before proceeding with the business on the Agenda I should like to refer to the recent death of our old friend Mr. Lo Cheung Shui, Mr. Lo occupied an honoured position in the public life of the Colony and he was to many of us, Europeans and Chinese alike, a personal friend. I know that you will wish to pass a vote of sympathy with our Vice-President, Mr. M. K. Lo, whose absence from our meeting to-day we so greatly regret, in the irreparable loss which he has sustained in his father's death.

The Report.

The Report gives so full an account of the year's work that there is very little left for me to say. You will have noticed that there is a loss on the year's working of $2,999.21, and that our reserve fund has in consequence been reduced from $5,472.05 to $2,472.85. We can, however, afford to regard this with equanimity for it has been a year of unusual expenses. The sending of the Interport Team to Shanghai involved us in an expenditure of $3,142.50. In the coming year not only shall we be relieved of this expense but we hope to benefit from the gate receipts of the Interport matches to be played in Hong Kong. We also contributed $1,831.07 towards the expenses of sending the Chinese Olympic Football team, in which Hong Kong was well represented, to the Far Eastern Olympic Games in Manila. The success of the team, to which we offer our sincere congratulations, was a source of great gratification to Hong Kong Footballers. The Association was very pleased to be able to accede to the request of Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation for assistance in sending the Chinese team to Manila. The relations between the Association and the Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation and the various individual Clubs have never been better and this happy state of affairs is largely due to the efforts of your Vice-President Mr. M. K. Lo whose work both for the Federation and for the Association has been most helpful. He has been instrumental in arranging many friendly contacts between European and Chinese supporters of the game.

Although receipts from the League Matches were less than we anticipated, gate receipts generally throughout the season were quite satisfactory and show that local interest in the Sport we are specially concerned to foster, has in no way diminished. It may be of interest to supporters of Football in Hong Kong to know that in spite of our unusually heavy expenditure we have been able during the year to contribute no less than $5,721.80 to various Charities, and have in addition assisted in the organisation of various Charity Matches to the very material benefit of certain special funds.

The Borderers

The results of the various competitions are given in the Report and I think you will all agree that we have had a very successful season. It has been a South Wales Borderers' year for the Regiment won the Senior Challenge Shield and the First Division of the League, and playing as the Welsh Team carried off the Sunday Herald International Cup. We offer them our heartiest congratulations and hope they will carry away happy memories of their last season's football in Hong Kong.

The Interport

We were unfortunate in our Interport matches in Shanghai but we look forward to the Interport matches here as the outstanding events of the coming season and are full of confidence in our ability to avenge our defeats. We greatly hope that Tientsin will make a special effort to send an Interport team here next season so that we can stage Triangular Interport Football matches here for the first time in the history of Hong Kong.

Misconduct

I feel obliged to refer to one unpleasant feature of the Council's report. You will have seen that several cases of misconduct came before the Emergency Committee, and that three matches were abandoned through fighting between the players. Gentlemen, these things should not be. I know that in keenly contested matches feelings are inclined to run high, but they should never run so high as to lead to misconduct. It is often as much the fault of the spectators as of the players. Unbridled and unsportsmanlike support of one side alone is liable to infect the players and to lead to breaches of the rules.

I make an earnest appeal to players and spectators alike, and in this I include all communities, for the fault by no means lies on one side alone, to play the game as it is meant to be played keenly but cleanly. So far as the Hong Kong Football Association is concerned it is determined to keep the game clean in Hong Kong and it will not hesitate to use all the powers it possesses to maintain the true spirit of the game in this Colony.

Tribute.

Gentlemen, before I close I should like to pay a tribute to the work of the Officers of the Association and to the members of the Council and particularly of the Emergency Committee. The Council met on sixteen occasions but that only represents a fraction of the excellent work done by the Council and Committee. Major Manners who has occupied the very responsible position of Chairman of the Council deserves our special thanks for his devotion to the interests of the Association. We greatly regret the retirement of the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall from the position of Vice-President. Dr. Kotewall has done a very great deal for the Association in past years and his retirement is a real loss to us. It was fortunate for us that we were able to persuade Mr. M. K. Lo to take his place. That enthusiastic footballer, Mr. J. Ralston, succeeded.

LAWN BOWLS

Singles Championship

Three matches in the Singles Championship were played at Happy Valley yesterday and resulted in A. E. Coates, A. H. Basto and L. A. Gutierrez winning from W. V. Fields, A. MacFarlane and J. J. Basto by the scores of 21-13, 21-17 and 21-8 respectively.

The match between Coates and Fields was played on the C.S.C.C. green and at the 17th head Coates scored his winning shot. The winner scored on 11 heads and the loser on 6. Each scored a four and a three.

The match on the Police green, between Basto and MacFarlane was a close fight, game ending on the 20th head. Basto was leading by 19 to 17 on the 19th head and on the 20th head scored a two to win the match.

On the Craighower green Basto was no match for Gutierrez. Gutierrez had everything his own way and at the 18th head the match came to an end with the score of 21-3 in Gutierrez's favour.

In the pairs competition J. Noronha and E. Basto beat Hollands and Gregory in the 21st head, the scores being 19-12.

Only one game in the Lawn Bowls Open Championship was played in Kowloon yesterday, when E. W. Simmonds beat A. W. Gomes by 21 shots to 11 in their Open Singles Championship encounter on the Kowloon Bowling Club's green.

ed to Mr. Hancock's place as a Vice-President. We thank him for his great assistance during the year and particularly for his work in connection with the revision of the Rules of the Association.

The Office.

Gentlemen we now have our own office in this Club, a much more satisfactory arrangement than any we have had before.

The Council will in future be able to meet in more congenial surroundings and we hope the new arrangement will lighten the work of our Hon. Secretary who bears so much of the burden of running the Association. I am sure you will join with me in expressing the Association's high appreciation of Mr. G. T. May's services. His Assistant Mr. Logan resigned early in the year. We thank Mr. Goldenberg for the very material assistance he has rendered since Mr. Logan's resignation and particularly for going to Shanghai on our behalf as Manager of the Interport Team.

Lastly, Gentlemen, we wish to express our thanks to the Committee of the Sports Club for allowing us the use of this room and for many kindnesses during the past year. They have kindly allowed us to establish our Headquarters in premises belonging to the Club and this proximity will help to cement the cordial relationship already existing between the Club and the Association.

Gentlemen, I have much pleasure in proposing the adoption of the report and accounts.

The proposal was seconded by Captain C. E. Elliot-Heywood and carried unanimously.

BIG INTERPORT GALA

FOUR CITIES TO COMPETE IN SHANGHAI IN SEPTEMBER

Preliminary Arrangements Being Made

Hongkong, Shanghai, Tientsin and Yokohama will participate in the Interport swimming contests to be held in Shanghai in September.

That the Colony will exert every effort to send up as representative a team as possible to Shanghai was indicated at a preliminary meeting held at the V.R.C. yesterday in which delegates from the various clubs in the Colony were represented.

The discussion was mainly confined to the question of the size of the team which Hong Kong should send, the appointment of a selection committee, the question of financing the trip and that of holding appropriate trials to assist the selectors.

Trials Open To Hong Kong

Any swimmer in the Colony may compete in the trials which will be held during the end of this month and in August. The final selection will not take place until the very end of August or possibly at the beginning of September, and the selected team will give an exhibition in the Colony on September 1 before sailing for Shanghai.

At yesterday's meeting, Mr. F. X. D'Almada e Castro, junior, took the chair, and there were present the following V.R.C. members:—J. M. Alves, C. Rosa Pereira, H. Hyndman, J. Ross and C. J. Cooke. The Y.M.C.A. was represented by Mr. A. G. Donn, the South China A.A. by Leung Tit Sang, the Chinese Athletic Association by Lo G. Hin and the Army by Lt. Moon.

The Shanghai end of the Interport is in the hands of Mr. "Jimmy" Lyon, who, knowing Hong Kong so well, is in a good position to handle affairs. His correspondence with the V.R.C. was read to the meeting and it was disclosed that the Shanghai team invited all Hongkong through the V.R.C.

The selected members of the Hongkong team will have to pay their own passage, and accommodation in Shanghai will be provided by the Northern port. It was pointed out that since four teams are competing that accommodation would be difficult and that if possible members of visiting teams should stay with friends. It is hoped that fresh men will represent Hong Kong in different races, except where such a policy was against our chances of success.

An Interport committee consisting of one member from each of the Club represented at last night's meeting and two from the V.R.C. was formed. The question of an Interport selection committee was left in abeyance.

Preliminary trials will begin as soon as possible and by the end of August it is hoped that the various swimming teams will be picked. The idea of staging some of the trials at North Point was discouraged by the Chinese representatives present who explained that as these clubs had such large membership that the "gate" would be affected. Members went to swim every night and could not very well be stopped on the nights of the gala.

It was agreed that the various clubs were to assist in trying to sell as many tickets as possible for the trials which will be exhibited in the evenings from 8 p.m. onwards on days to be selected.

THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Report Of The Annual General Meeting

Boston, Mass., June 4. Virtual completion of the new Christian Science Publishing House in Boston, Massachusetts, and gratitude to the Field for its loyal support which made this achievement possible, was the keynote at the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, held here to-day.

Better and quicker healing, and closer unity in its demonstration, as well as greater consecration to the ideals set up by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, were impressed upon the "army of Christian Science workers" more than 8000 strong, who attended this Annual Meeting. These workers are representatives of a field which extends to such remote points as Australia, South Africa, the Philippines, as well as England and many of the continental countries. Practically every state in the Union and many parts of Canada also are represented.

Announcement was made of the election of the following officers:

President: Dr. John M. Brewer, of Cambridge, Mass.

Treasurer—Edward L. Ripley, of Brookline, Mass.

Clerk—Ezra W. Palmer, of Brookline, Mass.

The new President of The Mother Church, Dr. John M. Brewer, is a native of Antioch, California. He graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1902. In 1918 he received the Ph. D. degree in education from Harvard University and became an instructor there. Two years were spent as head of the Department of Education at the Los Angeles State Normal School, after which he was appointed to the position he now holds, Associate Professor of Education, Graduate School of Education, Harvard University. Professor Brewer is author of several books on education. In connection with his professional work he has travelled extensively in Europe.

His first experience with Christian Science was through a healing in 1903. In 1909 he joined The Mother Church. In First Church of Christ, Scientist, Cambridge, Massachusetts, of which he is now a member, he has served as President, First Reader, and member of its Executive Board. He also belongs to Harvard Science Organization of Harvard University.

The new President was introduced by Miss Mary G. Ewing, retiring President.

Three Ways

In his address, Professor Brewer pointed out three ways, among others, by which Christian Scientists "can help humanity to get along peaceably and harmoniously with each other, in family, village, town, community, state, nation, and world." First, "we can continue and improve our work of healing the sick and improve our work of healing the sick and sinful, whether in our individual experience or in that of others who turn to us for help."

In the second place, the President declared, "we can contribute to the cause of democratic government and peace among nations by making full use of the good news published in The Christian Science Monitor. Daily we have before us an accurate picture of humanity's problems of living together, with an account of the proposals for solving them, and with accompanying editorial comment. More than this, we are now furnished with a magazine section of the Monitor, in which the Editorial Board aims to provide us with searching criticism, appraisal, and interpretation. Taking full advantage of these facilities, and adding to them the metaphysical discernment given by Christian Science, we shall be able to support the good in human affairs, and to reject the impracticable, unwise, extravagant, and evil."

"The third great agency for contributing to good government lies in our own relationships with our fellow men. Here we can show, in a practical demonstration which none can gainsay, just what human government may become when man is governed by God."

the retiring chairman, Mr. William R. Rathvon, referred to "the one achievement that looms so impressively—the completion of our new Publishing House, Building—made possible by the sacrifices and generosity of those whose love for God and man was thus expressed."

Mr. Rathvon spoke at length of the magnitude of the duties of the Board of Directors. To enumerate the duties, responsibilities, powers, and prerogatives of this Board, he said would be to rehearse a large part of the Manual of The Mother Church itself, so varied and comprehensive are they. Accomplishment of these duties, Mr. Rathvon further declared, is brought about "only by implicit reliance upon that love which beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things, and by turning constantly to the omnipotence, omniscience and omnipresence of limitless divinity."

A marked increase in the demand for Mrs. Eddy's writings during the past year was reported by Mr. William M. Bartlett, Secretary of the Trustees under the Will of Mary Baker Eddy. For several years, he declared, it has been evident that the sales of the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy have been made largely to new students of Christian Science. However, with the publication in September, 1933, of the Progress Edition of the textbook, he added, "the demand for the book, as well as other writings by Mrs. Eddy, has steadily increased until the sales totals of 1930 have been restored."

Radio Activities

In the report of the Committee on Publication, the Hon. C. Augustus Norwood, Manager, declared that during the past year thousands of bookplates have been supplied to libraries to inform patrons of all authorized and approved Christian Science literature. He also stressed the importance of published excerpts of the Christian Science Bible Lesson Sermons and reported that "legislative work continues with marked evidence that the right of Christian Scientists to practice their religion is being more generally recognized."

"Radio activities," Mr. Norwood also declared, "have increased as Christian Scientists and radio station managers have seen their rich possibilities, and a significant fact with regard to these radio programmes is that, so far as is known, not one has resulted in any counter attack or criticism from any non-Christian Scientist, while many have resulted in the healing of persons whose interest in Christian Science was originally awakened by these programmes."

Mr. A. Hervey Bathurst, Chairman of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, reported that lectures on Christian Science were delivered by members of that Board for the first time in such distant fields as Macassar, Celebes, Colombo, Ceylon; Peiping, China; Cairo, Egypt; Bangalore, Delhi, Lucknow, and Madras, India; Surabaya, Java; and Singapore, Straits Settlements. "In one instance," Mr. Bathurst said, "it was reported that an individual travelled many miles on horseback, followed by a night journey on a train, in order to be present at a lecture; while in India some travelled as much as 700 miles to hear a lecture—200 miles over mountain roads before taking the railway train."

Among the outstanding achievements of The Christian Science Publishing Society during the past year, according to Mr. Roland F. Harrison, Manager, were the publication of the Progress Week Issues of The Christian Science Monitor, 1,330,000 copies of which were sold; and the launching of the Monitor's Weekly Magazine Section, which is published with the Monitor every Wednesday. Co-operation from the field, careful management and many economies, as well as the added facilities of the new building, all were essential to these accomplishments, Mr. Harrison declared.

Encouraging Results

Since last June, 29 Societies have qualified for the title of Church, 59 new Christian Science Societies, 3 Churches, and 5 university organizations have been formed, according to Miss M. Rosamond Wright, Manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners. This brings the total to 2673 Branches of The Mother Church and 48 university organizations throughout the world. "It is encouraging to know," she said, "that during the past year, 682 members of The Church have qualified for cards in the Journal as public practitioners of Christian Science; 66 as Christian Science nurses. Fifty practitioners have qualified for cards in The Herald of Christian Science. These applications have been approved by The Christian Science Board of Directors. The Journal now lists the names of 10,775 Christian Science practitioners and 491 nurses. Miss Wright said in conclusion.

LOCAL $1 CASH SWEEP

Over 13,000 Sold In First Week

The $1 cash sweep of the Hong Kong Jockey Club is once again proving extremely popular with the public.

Within a week of its issue over 13,000 tickets have been sold and it is confidently expected that the whole of the 100,000 will be taken up by the time the race is run.

The sweep is to be drawn on the Picnic Bay Stakes, the seventh race on the programme on September 22, when the racing season for the second half of the year commences.

If the whole 100,000 tickets are sold the first prize will be $42,500, and the second prize $12,100. The third prize will be half the amount of the second.

A similar sweep conducted on the Jockey Stakes during the first half of the year proved extremely popular and there was a tremendous rush for it in May and June. In that sweep over 70,000 tickets were sold.

GERMAN WARSHIPS IN ENGLAND

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright))

London, July 11. The first German warships to visit England since the war steamed into Portsmouth harbour on Wednesday afternoon and were welcomed by about a thousand spectators on the piers. The two cruisers, Koenigsberg and Leipzig fired the 21-gun salute to honour England, and 17 more for the Portsmouth commander—Transocean Kuo Min.

cities, 3 Churches, and 5 university organizations have been formed, according to Miss M. Rosamond Wright, Manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners. This brings the total to 2673 Branches of The Mother Church and 48 university organizations throughout the world. "It is encouraging to know," she said, "that during the past year, 682 members of The Church have qualified for cards in the Journal as public practitioners of Christian Science; 66 as Christian Science nurses. Fifty practitioners have qualified for cards in The Herald of Christian Science. These applications have been approved by The Christian Science Board of Directors. The Journal now lists the names of 10,775 Christian Science practitioners and 491 nurses. Miss Wright said in conclusion.

Other reports included those of the Treasurer of The Mother Church, Mr. Edward L. Ripley; Christian Science Trustees for Gifts and Endowments, read by Mr. Torrance Parker, General Counsel for The Mother Church; and the three Christian Science charitable institutions, read by the Hon. William W. Davis, Executive Supervisor.

In the report of the Clerk of The Mother Church, Mr. Ezra W. Palmer told of the work of this Church in furnishing relief to people in stricken areas in times of flood and disaster. He also spoke of aid toward unemployment relief in the Boston district of The Mother Church. The Literature Distribution Committee of this church, he said, has reported an increase of 32 per cent. in the local distribution of Christian Science literature during the past year over the previous year.

Many young people are joining The Mother Church during their Sunday School experience and others join directly after reaching the age of 20, he said. Eighteen lectures were given by members of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church under the auspices of this church, in the Boston district during the year, the Clerk reported. Attendance at the three Reading Rooms of The Mother Church in Boston was over 137,000 for the year, he declared.

All this shows, Mr. Palmer concluded, that "Christian Science is advancing steadily in favour among men and this progress will continue."

LIVESTOCK IN BRITAIN

Government Scheme For Control

London, July 11.

Major Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, announced in the House of Commons that an emergency measure would be introduced forthwith providing for payment, in a rate not exceeding 5/- per live hundredweight, and 9/4d. per hundredweight deadweight, to producers of certain classes of cattle sold for slaughter in the United Kingdom between a date, not earlier than April 1, 1934, and March 31, 1935.

Payments would be made from the "Cattle fund" and authority would be sought without delay for making temporary advances to that fund, from the consolidation fund of an amount not exceeding £3,000,000.

Major Elliot stated that the problem had been approached by the Government with the intention of framing proposals which could be brought into operation immediately to deal with the beef situation and would lead up to the formation of a permanent policy.

LEVY ON IMPORTS

The Government were of the opinion that a plan based on a levy on regulated imports and payments to producers, afforded the best long-term solution and one which would hold the balance evenly between the producer and the consumers.

The Government would, therefore, hope in its long-term plan to establish, render, control, and manage a permanent commission fund into which would be paid, in due course, the proceeds of such a levy, and out of which would be paid such payments to producers of livestock in the United Kingdom as might be justified by the market situation and as might, from time to time be determined. It would be an essential function of the commission to co-operate with any producers' marketing organisation and other interests concerned in the reform of the marketing and slaughtering system with a view to greater economy and efficiency which was indispensable to further the prosperity of the livestock industry.

Discussions with representatives of the Government, of the Dominions and the Argentine had been opened but in the absence of consent to the proposals for a levy, the only action open to the Government, so far as imports of meat was concerned, was by a further regulation of supplies designed, first, to hold the position for the time being and, secondly, to bring about a material improvement in the market position. Action on an extended scale would present problems of a serious nature to certain Dominion Governments and, in view of this, the United Kingdom Government were anxious to allow time for further examination of the situation before determining the extent of the action required.—British Wireless.

AUTHOR'S SUICIDE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright))

Berlin, July 11. The well-known Radical author and pamphleteer, Erich Muehsam, who was taken into preventive custody some time ago, ended his life on Wednesday by hanging himself in the prison cell. Muehsam was 57 years of age and

FISHING OFF NORWAY

Protection From Interference

London, July 11.

The Lord Privy Seal, Captain Anthony Eden, has received from a delegation of the Hull Trawler Officers' Guild, at the Foreign Office, representations for protection against interference by the Norwegian authorities with the activities of British trawlers outside the three-mile limit off the Norwegian coast.

Resolutions requesting the Government to take immediate steps with the Norwegian Government to define the limits of international waters at three miles from the low water mark, and to ensure that such an agreement would be honoured by the local authorities, were presented.

Captain Eden expressed the greatest sympathy with the case put forward and said that within the last six weeks very strong representations had been made by His Majesty's Minister at Oslo to the Norwegian Government, and a reply was expected very shortly.

If it were not satisfactory, or if no reply were received within the limited time, the Government were fully prepared to afford naval protection certainly up to the limit mentioned in the agreement of November last, and possibly up to the three-mile limit. In any case, an early visit of a British warship to the fishing grounds would be considered.—British Wireless.

DESPATCH OF WARSHIP

London, July 12.

Britain is preparing to despatch a naval force to protect British trawlers against interference by Norwegian authorities outside the three-mile limit.

Captain Eden gave this assurance to a deputation of Hull trawler officers. He said that unless a prompt and satisfactory reply was received from Norway to the strong British representations, Britain would take her own measures. In any event an early visit of a British warship to the fishing grounds would be considered.—Reuter.

MADMAN'S TERRIBLE DEED

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright))

Warsaw, July 11.

The less desperate inmates of an insane asylum in the city of Rybnik in Polish Upper Silesia were horrified on Wednesday to hear the mad deed of their warden, Studnik, who, after office hours, went home and deliberately ended the lives of his six children and then committed suicide. The warden who recently showed signs of losing his own mental balance, carefully chose the time when his wife was absent, patiently stretched a long rubber tubing from the kitchen, gas stove to the room where his five sons and one daughter, between the ages of three and nine years were sleeping, turned on the gas and lay down in the adjoining bed. All were found dead when neighbours broke in the door some time later. The population of Rybnik was shocked and charged the officials of the asylum for being unable to recognise the dangerously deranged man.—Transocean Kuo Min.

BELGIAN CABINET

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright))

Brussels, July 11.

The Broqueville Government scored an important point on Wednesday in a fight for dictatorial powers when the Parliamentary commission charged with examining the plenary bill now pending, approved it by 13 votes to 10. The bill gives the Cabinet full powers to carry out the drastic programme of financial rehabilitation.—Transocean Kuo Min.

ed a dubious reputation by his participation in the short-lived Red reign of terror in Munich in the spring of 1919 which culminated in the shooting of numerous Bourgeois hostages by order of the "Revolutionary Government" which shortly afterwards was overthrown by the troops under the command of the present Governor of Bavaria, General von Epp. Muehsam was subsequently sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment in 1920 but was released in 1928 after having served 10 years.—Transocean Kuo Min.

NEW YORK STOCK AND COMMODITY QUOTATIONS

AMERICAN ORIENTAL FINANCE CORPORATION AND S. E. LEVY & CO.

New York, July 11. The American Oriental Finance Corporation report through their New York agents, Messrs. E. A. Pierce & Co., states:—

Stocks:—The market gave evidence of quiet strength more than anything else. A substantial portion of the buying was of an investment nature looking for income. There was some resistance but it looks as though the buying factor will remain stronger than the selling influence. Business done, 650,000 shares.

Wheat:—The Government report was the all important factor in the market to-day, prices advancing to the limit which, therefore, checked any further advance. South-west receipts were small, while local offerings were much larger. The Winnipeg market felt the report and also Chicago buying.

Cotton:—The weekly weather review was bullish, reporting hard rain in San Antonio for the first time in two months, and there was large Trade and general buying. The most critical cotton periods hang on weather conditions and there is a possibility of witnessing in the cotton market such activity as that experienced in the grain market.

Silver:—After a very mixed opening, due to a few scattered market orders, prices settled back with trading virtually at a standstill.

The following telegram was received from the A.O.F.C. New York Office during our night service:—

At the opening the trend of the market was upward and the volume of business was fairly
